Excerpt

Emily gripped the steering wheel tightly as she sped through the dark streets. Her heart pounded in her chest, and her mind raced. She had just escaped from the clutches of the kidnappers who had been holding her husband captive.

Emily knew that she couldn't go to the police. They were corrupt and couldn't be trusted. She had to find David herself.

Emily followed the kidnappers' trail to a warehouse on the outskirts of the city. She crept inside, her gun drawn.

The warehouse was dark and empty. Emily could hear the sound of her own breathing. She moved cautiously through the shadows, her senses on high alert.

Suddenly, she heard a noise coming from the next room. She froze, her gun pointed at the doorway.

The door creaked open, and a figure stepped into the room. It was one of the kidnappers.

Emily fired without hesitation. The kidnapper fell to the ground, dead.

Emily knew that she had crossed a line. She had taken a life. But she didn't regret it. She had done what she had to do to save her husband.
